

FAMILY SUKKOT ACTIVITIES

Sukkot (or booths in Hebrew) is the Jewish festival of booths. This holiday begins five days after Yom Kippur in which Jews dwell in booths for a week. The booth or sukkah represent the huts where the Israelites lived in during their 40 years of wandering in the desert. The most common rituals of Sukkot include building a sukkah, inviting guests into your sukkah, and holding and shaking four species of plants that grow in Israel, including a palm, myrtle, willow (lulav in Hebrew) and citron (etrog in Hebrew). –adapted from bimbam.com/judaism-101/sukkot/

In a sukkah “we surround our children (and ourselves) with something Jewish. In the mitzvah of sukkah, our children participate in building a miniature Jewish environment in which to dwell, if only for a short while. They participate with all their senses, with physical effort, with imagination and spirit. The mitzvah of sukkah is a special experience of immersion in Jewish culture.” –The Jewish Parents’ Almanac by Julie Hilton Danan

Spending time in a sukkah is a way to slow down, reconnect with the natural world, and offer up one of the most fundamental human prayers: “Thank you.” –How to Raise a Jewish Child by Anita Diamant

Sukkot Activities:

- Take a nature walk, collect leaves, and make leaf rubbings to decorate your sukkah or home. Arrange leaves between two pieces of contact paper, holepunch and add string to hang up.
- Go outside to chart the phases of the moon throughout Sukkot. Sukkot begins during a full moon.
- Help your child make a sukkah out of an empty appliance box, a shoebox, or a variety of materials.
- Sukkot reminds us there are people who do not have homes. Donate food or money to organizations who help people in need. Join BAS members in this work: betamshalom.org/social\_action\_tikkun\_olam
- In the spirit of Ushpizin (biblical ancestors—Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Joseph, Moses, Aaron, David, Sarah, Rebecca, Rachel, Leah, Miriam, Ruth & Deborah—whom we invite to our sukkah), share with your children family photos, movies, and stories of your family’s ancestors.
